

To celebrate their Impact Day, a company called Deloitte had organized a cleaning drive in support with INTACH Delhi Chapter at Mehrauli Archaeological Park on 10th June, 2011.

A heritage walk was organized for 35 volunteers at Mehrauli Archaeological Park by Mr Ajay kumar who explained the historical significance of the archaeological park.

The walk ended at Quli Khan Tomb where the major activities were undertaken. The Deloitte team volunteered to carry out primary cleaning activities at Quli Khan Tomb without usage of chemicals for the restoration, under the guidance of an INTACH team comprising Mr. Dharmendar Mishra, Ms. Priya Sinha, Ms. Payal Kapoor and Mr. Kuber Patel.

They were divided in five groups of ten people. The groups brushed the moss from the walls and cleaned the platforms using basic cleaning materials - gloves, nylon brushes, brooms. Heap of earth was also leveled using spade at certain places. The litter collected was disposed of in garbage bags. Such activities act as important examples for people to understand and "connect", as a citizen of Delhi, to its rich cultural heritage by sensitizing them to the need to conserve and maintain Delhi's heritage monuments.
